THE CHAMBER OPENS ITS DOORS TO...

Arvid Nesse

Managing Director Marine Energy Test Centre
Norwegian Offshore Wind Cluster

 Both Norway and France are in the forefront of developing floating offshore wind

In this newsletter, the Chamber opens its doors to Arvid Nesse, General Director of the Norwegian Offshore Wind Cluster (NOW), who accepted to share his views on the main current trends on the Norwegian Offshore Wind market. He also informed us on NOW's perspective on France's ambitious roadmap, the opportunities for a stronger bilateral collaboration, as well as upcoming events.

CLOSE UP ON OUR PAST EVENTS

BNP Paribas: Economic & Ecology Outlook 2023

The 26th of January, the French-Norwegian Chamber of Commerce and BNP Paribas organized an exclusive breakfast seminar at Sommerro Hotel in Oslo to present the economic and energy outlook for 2023. This event gathered more than 60 participants.

The Group Chief Economist of BNP Paribas, William De Vijlder, shared his opinions and predictions on the 2023 economic forecasts, not only internationally but also on the Eurozone and the Nordics.

We also had the pleasure to listen to Jo Husebye, experienced strategy and management consultant with focus on the energy sector, decarbonization and technology, and partner at Rystad Energy. While reiterating the significance of Norway as a partner for Europe in the energy sector, he notably elaborated on the importance of offshore wind in the value chain, the rise in global battery demand to more than 10 times its current level by 2030, and the need for a gigaton-scale CCS industry to capture CO2 emissions.

We thank BNP Paribas and the speakers for this successful event.
